It gained him what no other recent speaker on the Irish question has secured—the good will of partisans of both sides among his auditors. The nearest G. K. C. came to being heckled was when a man obviously of North Irish extraction arose and asked if he didn't believe the solution of Ireland's difficulties lay in the liberation of its people from the Roman Catholic Church rather than from England, Ches-Church rather than from England, Ches-erton turned with a twinkle in his eye o the Rev. Street, whom Miss Olsson accused of robbing her.

Miss Olsson told the officers that she was waiting for a bus after having visited friends at an apartment on the Drive when Dixon drove up in an automobile, stopped directly in front of her, got out and throwing her to the ground seizing her pocketbook, which contained $20.

Whop Divor tried to accuse the picture. Tom Forman directed the picture. Some of the titles are notable for their excellence. The conversational ones are especially good. There is an amusing Ollendorf sketchograph called "Eve's Leaves."

Zita Moulton, recently with Willard Mack, will appear to-night in the role of Enough the Baroness de Verdiere in "Toto," at the Baroness de Verdiere in "Toto," at the Bijou Theater.

When Dixon tried to start his car again it had stalled, and before he could get it started Edward Ryan, of 1859 Broadway, rushed to the young the first of a circuit of houses in New York to run feature motion pictures after they finish their Broadway showing. The new policy goes into effect May 1.

dance as a Christian ceremony. The dance was done by six young women from Barnard College, under the tutelage of Miss Bird Larsen, teacher of esthetic dancing at that institution. In speaking of the innovation Dr. William Norman Guthrie, rector of the church, said: "That we are going to show our reverence in this way may seem shocking to some who do not appreciate the almost sacramental purpose of the undertaking. These same persons would probably be shocked to hear that the religious dance was quite common among the early Christians, but that it was there can be little doubt."

The dance came at the climax of the services. It was performed on a platform built over the chancel and filling the entire space from the altar railing to the nave.
